

A leucistic Red-capped Lark seen near Malmesbury.

There was a leucistic Red-capped Lark in wheat stubble on a dairy farm between Malmesbury and Darling on Monday 24 Jan 2015.

There is some pigment in the crest, but the pink bill and legs suggest this individual may be close to full albino. See the photos below.

John Fincham.

photograph by John Fincham.

photograph by John Fincham.

photograph by John Fincham.

photograph by John Fincham.